

Signs of Deception in Our Society

Making Good Strategies to Serve God

We need to stop investing in ourselves to be takers and invest in other people. That is what cheerful giving is all about. We must show love to other to care for our people, not just ourselves. We must offer help to other sources and people where it is needed. We must seek wisdom. We must practice hospitality as a disciple. We must show forgiveness and do not hold nothing against them. We must make space to worship God because Jesus has died for our sins and crucified during the resurrection. Christians and disciples must live in the spirit. Plan your day and time to worship God

- * Daily prayer and devotion
- * Talk to God about everything
- * Read the Bible
- * Ask for forgiveness when you sin
- * Meditate daily
- * Keep prayer journal to let you know what God done for you
- * Be patient
- * Ask questions
- * Attend church and learn the bible
- * Be friends and spend time with other believers
- * Volunteer your time to serve others
- * Ask for advice and prayer from mentors in the church

I have been an ordained bishop for four years and religious leader for six years. My congregation started on the Westside of Chicago with no members and no money when it started out. Now, the congregation has grown with a large foundation in the United States of America and abroad. Church sponsor four children in Kenya based on receipts and financial records
