Scripture

“According to the grace of God which is given to me, as a master builder, I have laid the foundation.”-1 Corinthians 3:10

Definition of the Master Builder

- Archi: chief, lead or primary
- Tektown: craftsman, carpenter, or builder

A master architect is someone who draws a picture and understands the physics of the building. He knows the weight of the steel and strength of the concrete.

The Greek word for master builder is Architektown.

The Three Phases of Construction

- You cannot build a cathedral on a swamp because you must zone your life to peace.
- You must zone your life from static.
- A building is only strong as what it can carry. This statement talks about the meaning of hard work and responsibility.
- A building needs light, water and heat just like a church needs treasury and service. This statement talks about Oikonomos.

The Blueprint Succession

- We build on the foundations of the ministers and treasurers who came before us.
- We build on hard work bricks that we were taught during our childhood.
- We must be encouraged to move from being a cryptic to the cathedral heading to 2026.

The Final Inspection

1. Is your life code compliant?
2. Are you pragmatic?
3. Are your priorities strong enough to hold up the weight of your dreams?
4. What rubble in your life need to be cleared before God can pour the foundation?
