Do not Let Liars take Advantage and Intimidate You

Christians and disciples do not let people that are liars take advantage of them by telling people they will do something and never live up to it. Christians and disciples do not let people promise anything to do that will never deliver and live up too. For example, that's why more evangelicals and Christians vote republican in Presidential and midterm elections because Democrats provides policies that will help Americans to live in poverty. Most evangelicals vote Republican in Presidential and midterm elections because they believe in strong economy and jobs, not be like Democrats to convert this nation into a Social Security and welfare state. I am a social conservative on economic issues because I believe Americans and people in communities need to learn ways to take challenges through hard work in their everyday lives.

I am a progressive because I am a cheerful giver that helps the poor and homeless mostly in Chicago area with thousands and hundreds of dollars of my own money since 2011. I am a progressive that helped low-income people personally that were unemployed that needed money for food and prescription drugs based on my personal receipts since 2011 along with personal tax return

People need to follow the procedures in your life today to avoid liars and sinners:

- Make friends with people that keep their promises to you and other people.
- Make friends with people that have good self-esteem and honest
- Make friends with people that believe in hard work and good education to succeed
- Make friends with people that are more independent and believe in responsibility
- Make friends with people that are respectful, intelligent and know right from wrong
- Make friends with people that are not a sinner and live by the flesh

Things not to and bad for worshipping God and Holy Spirit

- Don't be friends with hoodlums that are cursors that use bad language and cannot get everything they want in life
- Don't be friends with people that think good education and careers are for suckers and want all people to be thugs and hoodlums around them
- Don't be friends with people that tempt you be thug and hoodlums
- Don't be friends with people that tempt to live in sin and drunkenness
- Don't be friends with people that tempt you to join gangs and live path of unrighteousness
- Don't be friends with people that tempt you drop out of school, have sex and live your life by fornication, live disobedient in your life and live by the devil
- Don't be friends with people that do not like to work and hangout all the time.

It is not good to let people intimidate you about having a good job and education because hoodlums want people to hustle for money on a daily basis like it is a full-time job. Hoodlums get upset when working class and professionals will not buy anything from them on the streets. For example, black/African-Americans call professional people on the street bad names and slurs that will not give any money. Good education is not for suckers because people care about success and getting out of their parents' housing by having their own savings and job income. If someone promise you something, do not discourage them because they may not able to give you want what you promised right away. Honest people that cannot get you things right away may have unexpected troubles and procedures getting it to you.
