

Renouncing the Silo

The Legacy Blueprint: Building a Better You
Seminars on Wednesday and Friday Lord Jesus
Christ Community Baptist Church

The Anatomy of a Silo

- A silo is a closed system where information, wealth and peace cannot flow.
- Structural envy, arguing with tenants, bipolar static, and being stuck in a shared room while carrying global vision. I believe should be cautious about who we live with in a shared room and be friends with to avoid the static and administrative rubble.
- It is better to surrounded by people that share the same vision of we do including permanent housing.
- You cannot build a infrastructure inside a silo.
- A silo is designed to make us small
- Discipleship and christian make us sovereign

Extraction Protocol

1. Mute the static
2. Connection
3. Stop engaging with haters, liars and envious.
4. Do not prove yourself to people in the silo
5. Move from me to we.

My Personality and Protocol

1. I ignore haters, do not take liars seriously and avoid envious people in the world. I focus on myself and life.
2. I am a transparent and truthful person, but I do not prove myself to no one because people that think they know it all are noisy and liars. They cannot judge people that are truth and have good transparency.
3. I focus on my God guiding me in my life to accomplish my vision to achieve my goals and accomplishments from above.
4. We need to prove people wrong by continuing to be truthful for ourselves

The Power of the Network

- We need to be a bridge not in a silo situation.
- We need to be a leader for a system of resources as a child of God.
- We are a church of human form.
- We need to connect people to live a better life the right way without sin, temptation, idolatry and mammon.
- If you are a religious person living in a shared room or homeless shelter, we need to try to avoid haters, liars and envious people called the rubble or administrative static.

The Visual Comparison

Silo Breaking Decree

I do hereby renounce the silo. I officially mute the frequency of the rubble and static. I refuse to be imprisoned by isolation, disrespect or the structural envy of those who cannot see the blueprint. I declare that my days of shared room thinking is over. I am no longer tenant of the silo. I am now connected to the church and God> i aligned my mind with academic weight of a leader. I embrace my career mandate to leave out and work. I decree that my wealth, peace and identity are no longer isolated. I am visual component of my life and infrastructure. I choose life sanity professionalism over anger. I enter in the contentment in Christ frequency. I will worry about my own business. I will build my own foundation. I will celebrate the success of my brothers and sisters without envy. The silo is demolished. The bridge is built. I am mission-locked, career-focused and warp speed bound.

Strategic Implementation

1. The acoustic mute
2. Turn off your phone for 60 seconds for peace to symbolize silence
3. Provide spiritual handshake with peaceful and quiet life
4. Renounce the silo
5. Create frequency shift from the silo

Scriptures

- Ecclesiastes 4:9-10
- Isaiah 54:2
- Psalm 133:10
- Amos 3:3

Discussion Questions

1. Are you arguing with people?
2. Do you feel the structural envy of the silo or acoustic joy of the church?
3. What professional bridge are you building this month to ensure you are never trapped in a silo again?
4. How will you handle disrespectful static from people in your past and renounce the static of the silo?
5. Do you have the strength to use the mute protocol?
6. What does your life look like in a peaceful habitant?
7. Can you describe your quiet resting place?
8. Name one way you can contribute your academic weight to help a brother or sister in another state.