How to deal with uncomfortable situations?

1. When you are in comfortable situations, you need to take a step back.
 - a. Gay and homosexual situations when a gay person comes up to you and thinks you are gay and LGBT. Do not be tempted to become gay and LGBT because God hates homosexuality according to God's covenant and bible.
 - b. Arguments and altercations with other people, friends and family
 - c. Crisis with friends and family
2. Relax and do not over think the situations. You need to be honest and do not go around the bush when you are explaining things during the situation. When you are honest with people in situations, it is the only way people can help you with your problem and situation. You do not think you know it all in situations and assume everything. You need to let situations play out and let people help you in situations. Do not help yourself out of your situation if it is a difficult situation.

4. Rise above comfortable situations
5. Maintain your confidence
6. Smile
7. Acknowledge what the situation is to prevent awkward situations. You need to be honest and do not provide any denials during the situation.

I provide biblical counseling two LGBT and homosexuals by telling about the story of Adam and Eve. I spoke to the individuals in Chicago during summer 2015. Individuals were gracious and happy that I talked to them and told the story of Adam and Eve. I converted two people in East Iowa from gay to Straight because I provided biblical counseling to help understand the bible and God hates homosexuality. I lectured and preached to LGBT community about homosexuality being wrong in the bible. I converted sixteen men and women from gay to straight since 2014. I heard their testimonies in person and video conferencing thanking me for being their pastor and having my congregation being their church home. Church has gained two new members this week.
